

Our mind has a door. A password can open it. That word is stored safely in our heart, waiting for our willingness to retrieve it.

Unknown